

The A. F. of L. Weekly News Service gives a brief summary of important matters in the industrial, legislative and judicial fields, and other information that will benefit the trade union movement.

VOL. 14, NO. 48.

Unions Can Control Membership; Hint Of Court Dictation Ignored

New York, Feb. 14.—In a unanimous decision, the appellate division of the supreme court has declined to order the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union to admit David Simons to membership. Simons was president of the New Pressmen's union that called an outlaw strike in this city against local newspapers in September, 1923. Officers of the international organized a new union and secured Simons' admission. Simons was denied membership in the new union and he instituted legal proceedings. In ruling against him, the appellate court said:

"The court is without power to compel a voluntary unincorporated association to admit or reinstate an applicant for membership. That power rests exclusively in such associations. While this case is being considered by the appellate court, the Columbia News Review, connected with Columbia News, published in this city, published an editorial

CHILD LABOR FIGHT WILL BE CONTINUED

Washington, Feb. 14.—In a speech in this city, Senator Walsh indicated that he would not support any amendment that would prohibit children from working in the mills. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation." Senator Walsh criticized the "outrageous campaign of misrepresentation" carried on by the labor union in New England, and pointed out that it did not prohibit children from working in the mills. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

In a recent speech in the senate, Senator Walsh denounced the National Manufacturers' association for its opposition to the amendment. He said, "The National Manufacturers' association is the enemy of the child labor law."

Boston, Feb. 14.—Senator Walsh of Montana addressed the constitutional convention of the state of Montana in behalf of the federal child labor amendment. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

In giving his reasons why the amendment should be approved, Senator Walsh said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

LEATHER WORKERS' UNITY PLAN SUCCEEDS
Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 14.—Progress is being made in the Leather Workers' International union in their organizing campaign. The union is being organized in the leather goods industry in Kansas City.

Officers of this international union called on the leather workers in the leather goods industry in Kansas City. The union is being organized in the leather goods industry in Kansas City.

HIGH-BROW LAW TALK
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 14.—The Pittsburgh Courier, a leading newspaper in this city, has published an editorial in which it has criticized the high-brow law talk of the federal child labor amendment.

REGULATE TUNNEL WORK
Albany, N. Y., Feb. 14.—The Albany Times Union has published an editorial in which it has called for the regulation of tunnel work in this state.

CAR MEN URGING BETTER LIVES
Chicago, Feb. 14.—The Chicago Tribune has published an editorial in which it has urged car men to improve their living conditions.

P. O. WAGE INCREASE IS PASSED BY HOUSE

Washington, Feb. 14.—The house passed a postal pay and raise bill without a record vote. The bill provides for a 10 percent increase in the salaries of postal employees.

The money-raising feature of the bill is a new feature in postal legislation. It provides for the sale of postal bonds to raise money for the postal department.

Postmaster General S. C. Elwell has declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

DRESS GOODS SHOPS PUT ON SAME BASIS

New York, Feb. 14.—In a campaign against non-union dress goods shops in this city, the International Ladies Garment Workers' union has signed an unusual contract with the dress goods association.

Record wages have been secured and the jobbers agree that they will deal only with union manufacturers. Where a jobber violates this clause he will be fined by the association in an amount that is not more than $500.

The money-raising feature of the bill is a new feature in postal legislation. It provides for the sale of postal bonds to raise money for the postal department.

Postmaster General S. C. Elwell has declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

PUBLIC POWER PLANT IS MISREPRESENTED

Toronto, Ontario, Feb. 14.—In a spirited editorial the Toronto Globe questions the object of the Smithsonian Institution of Washington in publishing an erroneous report on the hydro-electric power company of this province.

The Smithsonian institution was established by congress in 1846. For the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men.

The money-raising feature of the bill is a new feature in postal legislation. It provides for the sale of postal bonds to raise money for the postal department.

Postmaster General S. C. Elwell has declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

Porto Rican Wretchedness Exposed; U. S. Officials' Denial Proven Untrue

Washington, Feb. 14.—The development in the Dominican republic and Haiti.

This is one of many sensational incidents of conditions in Porto Rico contained in a statement issued by the social action department of the National Catholic welfare council. A representative of that body has just concluded a two and one-half months' personal investigation of Porto Rico, Cuba, Haiti and San Domingo.

The four countries the investigator reports had conditions because of American land-grabbing and exploitation. The report on Porto Rico is of especial interest to citizens of the United States because of the demand for Porto Rican trade unionists for a congressional commission to investigate the brutality and exploitation.

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

ALUMINUM TRUST IS AGAIN PROBED
Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to the federal trade commission, Attorney General Stone declared that he has no objection to the bill. He said, "I have not reversed my position on this question, but I have changed my point of view on this legislation."

AGITATE!
EDUCATE!
ORGANIZE!

WHOLE NO. 723.